1200 GUARDSMEN ... SO FAR ... ATTEND AT 71 KENTUCKY AIR GUARD GOES TO SAVANNAH FOR CAMP

631 NATIONAL GUARDSMEN MAKE FRIENDLY INVASION NEAR CENTRAL CITY

Some 560 members of the Kentucky Air National Guard reported for two weeks of summer field training Saturday, June 12, with many of the men air transported to Savannah, Georgia, for their two-week encampment.

Highlight of the summer camp period came Saturday, June 19, when Headquarters 123rd Tactical Reconnaissance Wing, and its subordinate unit, the 123rd Tactical Reconnaissance Group, were presented the United States Air Force's highest non-combat award.

Presenting the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award streamer and citation to the 123rd was MG Gordon F. Blood, commander of the US 12th Air Force at Bergstrom Air Force Base, Texas.

The outstanding unit award is based upon the accomplishments of the entire wing during its 16-month tour of active duty in 1968-69, following the so-called Pueblo crisis. The award was received by the Wing Comdr, COL Verne M. Yahne, of Louisville.

Also present in observance of the occasion was Kentucky Governor Louie B. Nunn, the Adjutant General, MG Larry C. Dawson, and the Assistant Adjutant General for Air, BG Jack H. Owen of Cynthiana, who commanded the Wing on active duty.

Also receiving awards were LTC William H. Robertson, now retired from the Air National Guard, who is a businessman and postmaster at Finchville, Ky., and 1LT Thomas G. Mooney, a Louisville attorney.

Both were presented the Kentucky Distinguished Service Medal by Governor Nunn.

The Wing Headquarters of the Kentucky Air National Guard and its Kentucky group are based at Shewmaker Air National Guard Base, Standiford Field, in Louisville.

Other units of the wing are located at Little Rock, Arkansas; Fort Smith, Arkansas; and at Reno, Nevada. The flying units of the wing all use the supersonic RF-101 Voodoo in their mission of aerial photo reconnaissance.

FIRST WITH THE BEAN SOUP MONEY—Shown is COL Thomas E. Bates (Retired), left, presenting a check in the amount of $22.70 to COL Edward H. Milburn, Chief of Staff of the Kentucky Army National Guard. COL Bates has kept this money for a reunion of the old 123rd Cavalry since its inactivation since WWII, but it was never spent, and as the Colonel said, "when I go to meet St. Peter, I do not want to be carrying the old 123rd Cav money, and when I read about the fine boys work program the Guard was starting, felt this was the place to leave the money."

631 members of the 201st Engineer Battalion were on active duty from 12-26 June near the River Queen Mine off KY 181.

The battalion is made up of seven units from Ashland, Olive Hill, Carlisle, Jackson, Ravenna, Somerset and London.

The battalion established a new boys' camp for economically disadvantaged youth who would not be able to go to camp otherwise.

The training site is used on weekends by the 149th Armor Group and covers 20,000 acres and is being expanded. Forty tanks are used by the 149th at the River Queen training site.

This marks the second year that the 201st Engr Bn has trained in this area.

The land is leased from Peabody Coal Company at a nominal rental fee.

Central City Mayor C. G. Bastin was high in his praise of the 201st because of the manner in which they conducted themselves. He said, "I extend a hearty welcome to our fellow Kentuckians, and we invite them to make this city their home on their off-duty hours. We enjoyed having them here last year and we are proud that they could come back this year."

EISENHOWER TROPHY WINNER

MG Larry C. Dawson, The Adjutant General, recently announced in General Orders Number 20, that Company B 1-123rd Armor, was the recipient of The Eisenhower Trophy, for the period 1 January thru 31 December 1970.

The winner of this handsome trophy is judged the most outstanding Federally Recognized Company/Battery size unit in the Kentucky Army National Guard during a Calendar Year.

This trophy will be awarded to the unit during its Annual Field Training.

McCLURE COMMANDS 123RD TAC RECON GP

LTC James H. McClure, a veteran of 29 years of combined military service, has assumed command of the Kentucky Air National Guard's 123rd Tactical Reconnaissance Group.

The unit, located at Shrewsbury Air National Guard Base on Standiford Field in Louisville, is a part of the 123rd Tactical Reconnaissance Wing. LTC McClure succeeds COL Lawrence A. Quebbeman, who is now an operations staff officer in the wing operations section.

McClure has been deputy commander of the reconnaissance group for a number of years, a post he first held in April, 1964. He also is a full-time employee of the Kentucky Air National Guard as a flying training supervisor.

The new group commander is a command pilot and has been flying since his graduation from pilot training in 1944. LTC McClure has 46 aerial combat missions to his credit and holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal with four oak leaf clusters, and the Air Force Commendation Medal.

ARMY GUARD JOINS

TEAM HANDBALL PROGRAM

Team handball is the name of the game, and in case you've never heard of it, the Kentucky Army National Guard hadn't either—until recently.

The sport is not handball in the sense that Americans know it. Instead, it involves the skills of basketball, soccer and volleyball; is played either inside or outdoors on a court slightly larger than a basketball court; employs nets similar in appearance and placement to those used in ice hockey, and utilizes a round ball somewhat smaller than a soccer ball.

A team consists of seven members—a goalie and six players. Five substitutes are allowed.

The offense employs "give-and-go" tactics, as found in basketball, whereby a player dribbles, runs and passes until someone has an "open shot" at the net. The opposition can use either a zone or man-to-man defense. A score (one point) is accomplished when an offensive player throws the ball past the goalie into the net. Typical scores during the game, which lasts from 40 to 60 minutes—20 to 30 minutes per half depending on the age of the players—range in the low double figures for each team

THE AG SPEAKS

By Major General Larry C. Dawson

The three weekly sessions of the Kentucky National Guard Youth Camp is past history. I thank the members of those KYNG organizations that gave positive, enthusiastic support to the Youth Camp, Bean Soup Feast and Armed Forces Day open houses. A special word of appreciation to those who served on the Youth Activities Council, working committees and as volunteer members of camp staffs.

Kentucky communities, businesses, civic groups and communications media (with an exception) gave our programs excellent support. Responsible citizens of the Commonwealth cast a vote of confidence for the Guard by their ticket purchases, cash and food donations and attendance at open houses.

Elsewhere in this edition we show unit, battalion and command results based on gross receipts from ticket sales plus cash donations divided by the assigned strengths. A state-wide summation shows ticket sales were $15,969.00, plus cash donations of $774.70, less expenses of $655.38, for a total net profit of $16,088.32.

Although we fell below the goal of $20,000, several units demonstrated that it was well within reach. Their achievements provide the promise of future successes.

1971 KENTUCKY NRA RIFLE TOURNAMENT MATCH RESULTS

The top three winning teams of the 1971 NRA Rifle Tournament, held in Kentucky recently, are first place—2d & 3d Pitts Co C 201st Engr Bn, Ravenna; second place—123rd Tac Recon Group, Louisville; and third place went to Btry C 1-623rd Artillery, from Monticello.

The Ravenna Engineer Team with scores are 1SG Leonard Gould (548), SGT William B. Johnson (548), SSG Wallace E Horn (546), SP5 Ronald G Hardy (544), and SP4 Terry L Webb (536), for a team total of 2721 points.

The second place Air Guardsmen and their scores were MSG Donald L Durbin (564), MSG Edwin H Hornung (518), TSG Robert S Conder (492), TSG Forest D Noland (490), and TSG George H Amin (488), for a team score of 2551.

Team members and scores of the third place Red-Legs from Monticello were SP4 Eugene Laws Jr (437), SP4 Mitchell Hutchinson (423), SGT James D Koontz (421), SFC Joe F Cooper (413), and SGT Kenneth G Foster (395), for a team score of 2089.

The high individual score in Kentucky for the 1971 Match was made by MSG Donald L Durbin, with scores of 194 prone, 180 kneeling, and 190 standing, for a total of 564 out of a possible 600 points.

Fred D. Schliefer, Jr., HHD KyARNG, Frankfort, has been elected National Second Vice President of the National Campers and Hikers Association in the recent annual world-wide election.

The international group is a non-profit, family camping organization dedicated to conserving the nation's natural resources and promoting better camping and recreational facilities.

CSM Schliefer and his wife, Nilda, have been State Directors for Kentucky N.C.H.A. for the past four years, and Chairmen of the Annual Thanksgiving Campout held at Lake Cumberland State Park. They will receive an award for outstanding service to the organization at the International Convention to be held in Brantford, Ontario, Canada in July. He will also be installed into office at the convention.

TEAM HANDBALL INTRODUCED IN LEXINGTON TO OPTIMISTS

Team handball was introduced to the Lexington area recently when CW3 Edward C. Smith, coordinator for the 5th Bn (TCT AGQ) presented a program to the Meadowthorpe Optimist Club. Also proposed at this time was that the Meadowthorpe Optimist Club be the sponsors of the junior program in the Lexington area. When school begins in the fall it is anticipated that the sport will be introduced to the elementary and junior high school coaches of this area.

The program was well received by the Meadowthorpe Optimist Club and interest was shown to the point that the members desire to see an active demonstration of the game at the earliest possible time. Goals for the New Lexington Army are being constructed by CPT Billy C. Newton, a member of the HBB 5th Bn (TGT ACQ).

TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS
PLUS ONE TON OF BEANS
DONATED TO KYNGBC

The President of the Resthaven Memorial Park, Mrs. Ada E. Tingley, Louisville, donated $200 to the Kentucky National Boys Summer Camp as a result of assistance provided by the Headquarters of the XXIII Corps Artillery and especially the 2-138th Artillery, on Memorial Day past.

According to COL Thomas J. Nortof, this donation supports the theory that if the members of the local National Guard units support the community, the community will support them.

Another donation that came from the Louisville area was the one ton of beans given by Mr. Frank Rankin, Golfproof Elevator Company, for use of all the Kentucky National Guard units. And to add topping to the pudding he also purchased $5 worth of tickets.

CO C 2-123RD
ARMOR IN ACTION

Members of the Russellville based Army National Guard Unit completed a weekend of Guard training at Fort Campbell and at Central City last weekend.

Sergeant Arthur Branham from the Guthrie Community took top honors by firing a total score of 379 out of a possible 400 with his .45 caliber pistol. Close behind him in the scoring department was platoon sergeant Gish Arnold of Russellville and assistant platoon sergeant Cecil E. (Buddy) Neely from Auburn.

Top man with the M-16 rifle was Sergeant Robert S. Lipscomb from the Olmstead community, who fired a score of 38 out of a possible score of 40.
